

The Thread Management System allows control over all registered threads. Furthermore it is data driven allowing the developer to tweak thread settings without the need to recompile. Having a better overview of all threads within the game is an other advantage to the data driven approach.

- Creating a Thread
- Destroying a Thread
- Managing Threads \(.thread_config\)